

CLOSE AIR SUPPORT

BRIGADES

MMCC Brigades represents a distinct set of professions, with specific costume requirements known as Brigade Requirement Lists (BRLs). Members wishing to join a Brigade must meet both CRL and BRL requirements to apply for recognition.

CHOOSE YOUR PATH. HONOR YOUR SKILLS. GO ABOVE AND BEYOND.

The flying tanks of the Vanguard. Inspired by warriors like Paz Vizsla, Close Air Support Mandalorians fly heavy, in both gear and weaponry, bringing down overwhelming firepower to crush enemy defenses.

SoroSuub Heavy
Repeating Blaster

Rotary Blaster

CLOSE AIR SUPPORT WEAPONS

These flying tanks carry large two handed weapons secured to their person with a harness or a sling allowing them to fly while firing. The ammo for these large weapons must have a feeder if shain fed or a holster for additional shells.

ABOVE AND BEYOND.

WEAPONS

A one-handed blaster is always a good choice for those moments when the big gun just isn't necessary.

Westar-34

DC-17s

Custom
Blaster

Minimum required armor includes collar, chest, abdomen, back, cod/armored loin cloth, shoulders, gauntlets and knees. Era-specific requirements and apply regardless of which BRL is selected.

ARMOR

CLOSE AIR SUPPORT FEATURES

- Weathering must be consistent and realistic.
- Helmets must be streamline with no non-aerodynamic protrusions. Rangefinder or sturdy antenna required. No flimsy technology allowed on the helmet.
- Ear Cannons permitted.
- A hard cod plate is required.
- Gauntlets must have a communication system and a ranged weapon system integrated into them.
- Capes, ponchoes and dusters are prohibited.

SPECIALIZED EQUIPMENT

Enhanced Comms

Weapons Maint. Kit

Beskad

Enhanced Targeting System

Jetpack

Grenades

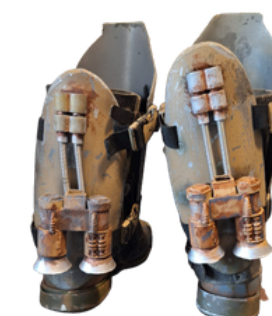

First Aid Kit

Gauntlet-mounted Weapons

Flight-damaged Kama

Jetboots